A year after he made his debut on Moon Harbour alongside wAFF, Spanish house force Cuartero is back with a firing new EP featuring three tracks full of heavyweight dancefloor dynamite.

Cuartero has only been producing since 2011, but in just a few short years he has established himself as a global player in the house world. His DJ sets are compelling things full of dynamic grooves, and his bulky, robust productions are just as stand out. They come on labels like Desolat, Hot Creations and Knee Deep In Sound, and always make any floor a sweaty, intense place full of free-moving bodies.

Opening up this EP is 'Shadow', which has an immediate impact with its big rubber kicks and fat bassline. Dark wordless vocals add a sense of late night naughtiness as crisp perc cuts through the murky bass. A real foot stomper that manages to be deep yet physical, some soul infused synths really finish it off in style.

Next up is the quicker cut that is 'Elevator.' This one has scraping hits and claps and a deep down, woody kick drum that gets run through with irresistibly loopy bass. More wordless vocals, this time from a lady, add to the atmosphere and are sure to get fists pumping and feet stomping.

Closing out a faultless EP of dance floor baiting club sounds is 'Bee So Long', a turbocharged tech cut with rich bass, lively hits and drum fills and bleepy melodies that will send any club into a frenzy. Building to a tense peak then boiling over in style, this is a full fat track (and EP overall) that proves Cuartero really knows how to make his sounds jump out of the speakers.
